

[illegible]

What would a normal serving be and what changes would that make to the energy and nutrients of the food?